

ABSTRACT

1 A method of anti-spam is to set an optional trustcode, or a trustlist, or at least 2 a trustweb based on online mail delivery at a recipient's e-mail address. A mail 3 sender is compelled at the first time to deliver a mail by way of: taking the way of 4 "Visiting trustweb and sending online", or enclosing the recipient's trustcode in the 5 mail and sending in another way other than the mentioned. After the sender's 6 e-mail address has been stored automatically in the recipient's trustlist, the sender 7 may send mails to the same recipient in whatever the ways feasible.
